Wilson, K. G. (2010). Things might go terribly, horribly wrong: A guide to life liberated from anxiety. Oakland, CA: New Harbinger Publications. This book is supposed to act as guide to help children with anxiety. It gives children steps to climb out of the hole that is anxiety. I think this book should be included when the lesson of feelings is taught.

The best things in life are often the simple things that make us happy. But even the most conventional things can go horribly wrong at every turn. Failures and mistakes are the main reasons why things don't turn out quite as expected. People either try to fix the mistakes or just live by them. We often have the mentality to accept failures as it is and laugh it off.
